Dinner for a Prince

Philanthropist and big-hearted socialite Mely Hechanova and her loving husband, the brilliant architect Paing Hechanova, a major force in Rotary International and two-time Olympian, recently held a dinner in honor of the dashing Andrea Albert Pierre Casiraghi, the distinguished son of Princess Caroline of Hanover and his lovely and talented girlfriend Tatiana Domingo, who flew in all the way from Colombia, South America for the occasion. The intimate affair was held at the Le Souffle at the Citi, where master chef Jesse Sinchiloco created a special menu for the evening's gaieties. Mely and Paing are major contributors to the Amade and Virianie Foundations, the charities of Princess Caroline in the Philippines.

Thank you for gracing our country with your presence, Prince Casiraghi! Your charities provide hope to our needy countrymen!
